PRESENTER

Kristen M. Madison, JD, PhD

*Professor of Law and Health Sciences
Northeastern University School of Law*

Kristin Madison is a Professor of Law and Health Sciences at Northeastern University.

She has written extensively on health care quality regulation as well as on how health care regulators generate, use, and facilitate others' use of data. In journals such as JAMA and Health Affairs, she has published articles related to employers' use of health incentives. After serving as the reporter for the committee that drafted the Uniform Telehealth Act, she is now working on the several articles on telehealth and related issues, including professional licensure.
